RoHS

The RoHS2 (EC Directive 2011/65 / EC) relates to substances in electrical and electrical devices and affects us as a manufacturer of mechanical devices and components only marginally. If you have purchased mechanical measuring devices from us, this guideline does not concern us and therefore our mechanical devices are also compliant with this guideline. Our suppliers of electronic devices / components have confirmed to us in writing that they adhere to the RoHS and only deliver goods that are RoHS-compliant. We have therefore complied with our monitoring obligation and are available to answer any questions you may have.
